Fight With a Deer.

Yesterday Dahlgreen, who conveyed a party of hunters down into the country, spied a large buck deer. He drew his shotgun and shot the deer behind the ear, stunning the "antlered monarch of the waste." Dahlgreen rushed upon the deer, when the huge buck raised and showed fight. A hard fought battle ensued, Mr. Dahlgreen getting the worst of every round. His clothes were almost stripped from his body by the buck, and he was pounded and bruised until he was as sore as if he had tackled the Boston pet, J. L. Sullivan. Dahlgreen fully intended to tie a rope around the neck of the deer and lead it home behind his wagon. He at last succeeded in getting hold of the deer by the head (while they were both on the ground) and thought he could succeed in holding it down. Suddenly the deer, with a hind foot, struck him a terrible blow in the chest, landing him and a faithful dog that was assisting him, about ten feet away, and almost knocking him insensible. The deer was about to pounce upon Dahlgreen when Jas. Pyllard came up and killed it. Dahlgreen today is quite sore from his beating and will not try to lead a deer home again.—Gips Valley Tidings.

The Last of Henry Harris.

Henry Harris, who was shot by Michael Zeller on Sunday morning, between 12 and 1 o'clock, died this morning at five minutes past nine. He was conscious almost up to the time he breathed his last, and at frequent intervals during the night moaned: "Oh, when will father come?" Those who have been in attendance at the bedside of the young man say that it seemed as if he were kept alive by the hope of once more meeting his father before he died, but this morning he exclaimed: "Oh, I am going," and immediately expired. His father arrived two hours after he was dead. Mr. Harris was at El Paso, Texas, when he received the dispatch announcing the shooting and has traveled night and day in hopes of seeing his boy alive. Young Harris has said but little about the shooting, but yesterday he said to his sister, "Kitty, it was a shame the way I was shot down." The deceased was a twin brother, was born in this city, and aged 21 years and 10 months. Chief Jackson and others have been engaged today in finding out further particulars of the fatal shooting.

Coroner Clark will hold an inquest on the body of deceased this evening, and the funeral will take place Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.—Sacramento paper.

A Peculiar Epitaph.

The following remarkable epitaph is attached to a Hebrew manuscript, commentary on the first book of Moses, which was written in Arabia Felix, in the year 1496. The manuscript is in the Sutor Library, and the address was kindly translated by Albert Sutor: "Completed this Torah, which is the book of Genesis, on the fourth day of the week, which is the eighteenth day of Tamuz, in the year 1807 of the Pact Cycle, in the place Almu'chal Alequzar Man Smanir D'mar.

"May it be preserved for Israel and for Israel's future forever till the Holy City Jerusalem be rebuilt. Amen, forever, Selah.

"It was written in the name of the great honorable who is compared to an evergreen tree, so may respond the ever good God.

"Saadyah ben Meoded, who is known as Al'shar. May God grant him that he shall study in it, his children and his children's children, as it is written in Holy Writ, 'This book shall not depart out of thy mouth and thou shalt meditate therein day and night,' etc. Joshua 1:8. And it was written by the humble, the humblest of scribes, Meoded ben Joseph ben Saadyah ben Joseph ben Solomon ben Nathaniel, who is known as Elan, Hagon Al Chist.

"May God forgive me for all that I have read and omitted and for all that has been hidden from my eyes, as is written, 'Who can discern his errors?' Psalm xix:12. Amen forever, Selah.

"Blessed be God, who assisted us in granting our request."

The Wapapai Tribune says: Miss Kate Crothers, of Flagstaff, arrived from her mountain home on Sunday and assumed charge of her school here Tuesday morning. Miss Crothers is an accomplished young lady and no doubt under her able tuition the school at this place will be a grand success.

"Say," said an editor's smart fifth son, as he entered a store, "do you keep knives?" "Oh, yes," replied the storekeeper, "we have kept them for years." "Well, returned the boy, starting for the door, "you ought to advertise, and then you wouldn't keep 'em so long."

The terraced heights of our grand old peaks are bedecked with the variegated hues of autumn, while high above timber line the first snow of the season lends a silvery crest to the golden hues below. The tourist or traveler over the great sunshine route will not find its equal in point of scenic beauty between St. Louis and the golden shore.—Champion.

The town is flooded with commercial travelers from St. Louis, Chicago, St. Joseph and San Francisco, soliciting trade that should go to Albuquerque merchants. A little judicious advertising in the newspapers of this section would perhaps bring better results to our neighbors than the money spent in railroad fares to foreign merchants.—Champion.

Mr. Geo. Mearns, father of Mrs. W. A. Scott of this city, has been visiting us for a few days. Mr. Mearns is a prominent business man in San Francisco, and like many others finds that Arizona needs only to be seen and thought over, then our great resources will be appreciated. Mr. Mearns leaves for San Francisco this afternoon and our good wishes accompany him.—Star.

Gen. Atkins, Indian Commissioner, was at Fort Grant en route to San Carlos Sunday. It is said he is accompanied by Congressman Holman of the congressional committee and others. It is sincerely hoped by the citizens of Tucson that the party will find time to visit us and have a talk with our people on the Indian question.—Star.

At the banquet on last Saturday evening Judge Berry asked the citizens there assembled, to drink to the sentiment that if at the next legislature a band of thieves assemble there like at the last one, that the new governor exercise the veto power very freely. The sentiment of the above is all right, but it came with very bad grace from Mr. Berry, who is now and has ever been, robbing the citizens of Tombstone. He has also robbed the city of Tombstone and the county of Cochise ever since he has resided within their boundaries, for he has never paid one dollar of taxes, and he has used the courts of this county, which are maintained by the citizens who do pay taxes, to rob these same citizens. Don't you talk about honesty, Judge Berry, for you do, not know what honesty means.

SOMETHING NEW.

The Organization of the Cochise Wholesale Butchering Association. Its Objects.

For the past month there have been rumors that a new wholesale butcher association would shortly be organized in this city, and upon investigation we learned that the organization had been effected, and that it had already begun to compete with the Tombstone Association. They have leased the building belonging to Palmer Seamans, on Allen street, just below Third, and have fitted it up in good shape, making it one of the neatest shops in the city, and at this shop families, hotels and restaurants can always get the choicest cuts of prime American beef and California mutton.

Mr. Hilton is the Manager of the Cochise Cattle Company, and has Mr. Spicer, one of the best known butchers in this Territory in attendance at the shop.

The Cochise Butchering Association have an unlimited number of fat American beef cattle on hand, also California mutton, veal, pork, and everything to be had in a first-class butcher shop. Parties desiring the finest of beef, pork and mutton should not fail to call at the Cochise Butcher Shop. A child can purchase as well as its parents, as the Manager guarantees the best of meats and full weight.

A Pioneer's Views.

Judge John Anderson and wife of Nogales are stopping at the San Xavier. Judge Anderson is in the banking business. From him the Star learns of the bright outlook of the city on the Pima. A smelting company has been organized, ground for the same is being graded. Three stacks will be put up at once, two for silver and one for copper ore.

There is a probability that the railroad shops and headquarters of the Sonora railroad will be moved to Nogales on account of the unhealthy condition of Guaymas. Judge Anderson thinks that the all-important thing for Tucson is the construction of the Tucson and Calabasas railroad, as he thinks a large part of the Sonora trade would come to this place, as well as a part of the Nogales business.

Referring to the general outlook of prosperity in Pima county, Judge Anderson states that during his twenty years' residence in Arizona, he had never known the outlook to be more encouraging than at the present, as the stringency of the past two years had forced everything down to bed-rock, while the recuperation had been slow. It has found a permanent basis, and the real value of our resources is now being tested and developed in a legitimate way; and that while the development of prosperity will not go forward with a boom, it will advance with steps which will not have to be retraced. These views, expressed by one of the pioneers of Arizona who has followed the fortunes of Arizona, through fortune and misfortune, ought to be worthy of consideration.—Star.

Gone to Soda Lake.

Last Monday H. E. Evans, well known in these parts as one of the pioneers who sank the first well in the vicinity of Calico, left for the Soda Lake mines, where he will sink a well and open a provision store for the benefit of the miners. He has mining interests out there and has a strong faith in the future of the camp. He has a two-horse rig which he will use in carrying passengers between Ludlow railroad station and the mines, and also for the purpose of hauling supplies. On the following day Frank Riggs left town with an eight-horse wagon loaded with miners' supplies, which will be used in the development of his mines.

But little work has been done on the mines in that region, the showings, though good, being only prospective. It is a good region for prospectors to go to if they have good outfits, but the miner hunting for a job had better stay away until there is a demand for laborers.—Calico Print.

Mr. Jas. Kennedy, agent of the N. M. & A. R. Co., at Contention, who went east some time since, is expected home next week, and will bring a handsome and accomplished young lady with him as his bride.

The Mountain Maid.

AS THE DAILY TOMSTONE FROM the outset has opposed the schemes of land sharks for the benefit of the people, we have taken the pains to look over the records of the county and see just how much title Fordyce Roper of Geo. G. Berry has to the surface of the Mountain Maid property, and we must say that it is all in favor of the settlers, and as the parties who are now trying to eject the honest settlers will have to give bonds for costs etc., which has never been done yet, and which is very necessary, as the section quoted below from the Compiled Laws of Arizona:

Section 514. When the plaintiff in an action resides out of the Territory, or is a foreign corporation, security for the costs and charges which may be awarded against such plaintiff may be required by the defendant. When required, all proceedings in the action shall be stayed until an undertaking, executed by two or more persons, be filed with the clerk, to the effect that they will pay such costs and charges as may be awarded against the plaintiff by judgment or in the progress of the action, not exceeding the sum of three hundred dollars. A new or an additional undertaking may be ordered by the court or judge upon proof that the original undertaking is insufficient security, and proceedings in the action stayed until such new or additional undertaking be executed and filed.

We hope that the citizens who are interested in the Mountain Maid titles should now put their shoulder to the wheel and fight with a will, for we know from what we have seen, that the Mountain Maid has no title to the surface ground.

Yuma Items.

(Yuma Sentinel.) From now until next June Yuma possesses the finest climate on earth. Over eight carloads of freight were shipped up the river by Yuma merchants last Saturday.

George Thiglow has forwarded to the Post Office Department at Washington, his application for appointment as postmaster of Yuma in 1888. Thiglow is a Republican and wants to have his application in on time.

Mr. G. W. Norton presented the Sentinel with a large sweet potato, raised in his yard on Railroad Avenue, that weighed four and a half pounds. He has a basket full of the same kind, and says that from one potato planted there, which never has been loosed or killed, he will have 1,000 pounds. Who can beat this?

F. A. Case, who plead guilty and was sentenced to Yuma prison for two years, and who was brought back to testify for the defense in the case of the Territory vs. Lathrop, was today after giving his testimony, ordered by the Court to be remanded to the county jail and that he should be indicted for perjury.

County Court.

HON. WEBSTER STREET, County Judge A. O. WALLACE, Clerk. TUESDAY, Oct. 20, 1885.

Minutes of last session read and approved.

Territory vs. W. F. Lathrop, grand larceny.

The following jury was empanelled and the case went on for trial:

A. C. Gale, Ed. Helms, F. W. Smith, F. J. Taffey, C. F. Hine, W. W. Woodman, Murly Long, D. S. Miller, J. P. Shanglemsky, M. Peralsch, J. W. Shephard, A. D. Meacham.

Several witnesses were examined on both sides. After the testimony of F. A. Case, a witness called by the defense and who is now under two years sentence for grand larceny, the Court ordered said Case remanded to the county jail, and that before he is taken back to Yuma he be indicted for perjury.

As we go to press the defendant, Lathrop, is on the stand. It is expected the case will go to the jury this evening.

"The medical practice of the present day is neither philosophical nor common sense."—Dr. Evans, Edinburgh, Scotland.

Dr. Die Lewis, who abhors drugs as a rule and practices hygiene, is frank enough, however, to say over his signature, "If I found myself the victim of a serious kidney trouble, I should use Warner's safe cure, because I am satisfied it is not injurious. The medical profession stands helpless in the presence of more than one such malady."

An old proverb says: If a person dies without the services of a doctor, then a coroner must be called in and a jury empanelled to inquire and determine upon the cause of death; but if a doctor attended the case, then no coroner and jury are needed, as everybody knows why the person died.—Medical Herald. o18-1w
